

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—

While adjournment of the legislature still may be distant, both houses have entered the final phase of the session with consideration of the budget bill and basic tax proposals which have been hanging fire since January.

The assembly ways and means committee, after weeks of hearings, sent the budget bill out with a favorable recommendation that a total of $352,282,594 be appropriated from state governmental agencies during the 1935-37 period.

The budget as approved by the committee represents an increase of $4,969,519 over the amount recommended by Gov. Frank F. Merriam. The increases went principally to care for higher food prices to institutions, the University of California, and numerous departments.

The actual budget does not take into consideration the governor's recommendation for $47,300,000 for unemployment relief.

One of the most important tax proposals finally was approved by the assembly. It provides for an increase in the rate of the retail sales tax to 3 per cent and exempts foodstuffs. Without this amendment, the sales tax would automatically be reduced from 2½ to 2 per cent at the end of the current fiscal year.

Other developments along the financial front include approval by the senate revenue and taxation committee of most of the recommendations of the joint steering committee appointed to study the revenue problem.

Another tax measure of particular interest to urban areas was passed by the assembly providing for an increase in the allocation of gasoline tax funds to the cities from one-quarter to one-half cent. Under this law, cities would get one-half cent, counties 1 cent and the state the remaining 1½ cents of the 3-cent tax.

Several other tax measures appeared to have been defeated for this session as a result of action taken during the week. A proposal to tax oil and gas pipelines was dropped in senate committee, and an attempt to withdraw from committee a severance tax bill on natural resources failed in the lower house.

The assembly went on record very definitely in favor of public ownership of utilities by approving two bills giving broad powers to political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to finance utility enterprises with the approval of a majority of the voters. Numerous attempts to amend the measures to require a two-thirds majority for approval of revenue bond issues were defeated.

Dog racing would be put on a par with horse racing, including pari-mutuel betting, under terms of a measure now awaiting action in the governor's office. The measure was passed by both the assembly and senate as a means of "regulating" the greyhound racing tracks.

After passing the assembly, a bill to tax chain stores was temporarily blocked in the senate revenue and taxation committee, but was finally moved out on the senate floor by a resolution which passed, 24 to 9.

State Employees Get Protective Ruling

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—Additional safeguards against transfer from their present locations to other sections have been furnished state employees in a ruling by attorney General U. S. Webb.

Department or division chiefs must first secure approval of the state personnel board executive officer before such transfers can be made, the ruling said.

After the approval has been received, however, any employee refusing to accept transfer may be charged with insubordination.

This act was declared to be an urgency measure and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and as such should take effect immediately. The following is a statement of facts constituting such necessity: The use of fresh trout roe or spawn as bait is found to be rapidly depleting the fish supply in several localities in this state, and it is therefore necessary that this act shall take effect immediately.

Odd Use Is Found For Old License Plates

WILLOWS, Cal., May 30.—(UP)—Because an automobile license plate is out-of-date is no reason why it can't be put to good use, according to Ira E. Mecum, of Orland.

Mecum, pioneer garageman, started reconstructing an old building into a modern storage garage. The structure was to be faced with discarded license plates collected from all sections of Northern California. He estimated 3,280 old plates would be required to complete the building.

CREEKS OPENED TO FISHING MAY 30

Lake Tahoe and Inlet Creeks Also Open. Fishing Continues Good with Fly Fishing Now Possible.

All tributaries to the Truckee River will be opened on May 30th for fishing with the exception of Sagehen Creek which will be a closed stream for the season. Donner Creek and its tributary Cold Stream in Nevada and Placer county will be open this year for the first time in many years.

Lake Tahoe and all inlet creeks to the lake back two miles from the lake will also be opened on this date. Under the old law all inlet creeks to lakes in District 23 were closed areas from the mouth of the streams back two miles toward the source. The exception is Taylor Creek, Trout Creek, and Cold Creek and their tributaries in El Dorado County which will be closed streams for the season. The Upper Truckee River in El Dorado County below the bridge on the Luther Pass highway to Lake Tahoe will also be closed to fishing.

Fishing continues good on the Truckee River with many good catches being reported. Many who have fished the river for years report that larger fish are being caught this year than for many years. Fly fishing is now being enjoyed on the river above Squaw Creek. Floyd Thomas caught 13 trout and John Rablin 8 trout with flies on Monday in the vicinity of Squaw Creek.

Dave Cabona brought in one of the best catches of the season on Sunday having three rainbow trout weighing three pounds a piece.

The water is reported as quite high in the creeks and there is a possibility of some difficulty of having much success for a few weeks until the water is lower.

U.S. GRANTS RAISED TO 45 PER CENT

Community Could Benefit From This Grant In New School Building Projects.

The announcement by the administration at Washington that easier lending terms and larger outright grants to state and communities in connection with the work relief program should be of especial interest to the voters of this community with the bond issues for the new school buildings about to be voted on.

President Roosevelt has boosted the outright grant maximum to 45 per cent of the cost of a project and reduced to 3 per cent the interest to be paid on the additional 55 per cent loan.

Under the Public Works Administration, such the maximum grant was 30 per cent and 4 per cent interest was charged on the 70 per cent loan. This was the basis on which the bond issue for the grammar school was figured. With the additional grant it is possible that it will not be necessary to use the entire $22,000 which is asked for at present for the erection of the new grammar school. This opportunity to receive such a large outright grant from the government towards the erection of the grammar school and possibly the high school will in all probability not be available again as this fact will no doubt receive the careful consideration of the voters at the time of election.

POLYANICH BLOCK BEING REMODELED

Work is well underway for the remodeling of the building owned by A. B. Polyanich on Main Street and formerly occupied by Mr. Polyanich with his cafe before moving to the Coffee Shop in the Hope Block.

The building is undergoing extensive alterations to the interior and will be completely re-decorated and new equipment will be installed. A new store front and entrance will add greatly to the appearance of the building. Mr. Polyanich will move his coffee shop and cafe from its present location within a few weeks and plans to have one of the most modern establishments in town.

MORE TOURIST TRAVEL

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—A heavy increase in tourist travel to California, compared with that of 1934, was reported by the state department of agriculture, based on figures submitted by border checking stations.

For the first four months of 1935, tourist registration at the stations totaled 133,142, an increase of 25 per cent over the like period a year ago. Approximately 52,000 vacationists registered at the highway entry points in April, a gain of 29.3 per cent over the same month in 1934.

Officials attributed the increase in motor travel to better economic conditions and a revival of the touring spirit.

State Wards Returned To Former Homes

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—A new record in returning state wards to their former homes in other states and countries was established this month, the department of institutions reported.

The "deportation train," run periodically by the state, left recently with 185 former inmates of California institutions aboard. It was the largest group of mental patients and other state wards ever shipped from California at one time. They were to be distributed in 33 states of the Union and in Italy, England and Mexico.

Of the 11 institutions represented on the deportation train, Preston School of Industry contributed the greatest number—60 boys from that reformatory being included in the group.

N R A COMMENT

Judged from the viewpoint of many California editors, the "screme" of the Blue Eagle has become a mere "peep."

If NRA is to be continued, they declare, it must be revised to prevent the stifling of small business.

"This NRA business," said the Hayward Review, "starting out to strengthen trade practices and to increase wages, shorten hours of work, create more employment, and standardize prices, has proved a false alarm and should be abolished. It has accomplished none of the objectives, but small businessmen feel it has been detrimental to their business and has retarded recovery. The chief friends of the NRA are the ones who have profited financially from it. Take the handcuffs off of industry and let it rise to its feet."

"Ex-president Hoover," notes the Santa Rosa Republican, "recently made the statement in a talk from Palo Alto that the NRA is stifling small business of the country. And while echoes of this assertion were still re-echoing throughout the country, Donald Richberg, NRA administrator, announced a newly revised NRA program that virtually admits it. For the new program makes a point twice of protecting small enterprise under continuation of NRA. Several concessions are contained in the new proposal, put there in the hope of gaining the two-year extension, which after all, is the principal reason for the new program."

The nation, in the opinion of the Berkeley Daily Gazette, "should welcome this frank and fearless criticism of NRA at a time when Congress is preparing to either end America's first experiment in regimentation or extend it another two years. To end it even now would prove no light task and would doubtless cause much economic confusion, but to continue it for two years could result only in permanent bureaucratic enthrallment of American business and industry."

According to the Long Beach Press Telegram, "only in the idea of voluntary association of those engaged in the same industry is the national recovery act likely to make a lastingly beneficial contribution to the public welfare. Whatever has been done by influence of the act to discourage unfair competition and waste of natural resources is good. If the continuation of NRA is ordered by Congress, the probability of its success will be in proportion to the extent to which the amended act is based on voluntary industrial cooperation, under proper restraints of law to protect the consuming public."

"The NRA, if it is to survive," states the Sacramento Union, "must go back to the principles on which it was founded. The general idea was sound, and at first did go a long way toward increasing employment and promoting recovery. The big objection is that it did not stop there. The Blue Eagle grew so many feathers it became too heavy to fly. Codes became too numerous and too complicated. If Congress and the NRA board can weed out the feathers on the bird and keep those that have proved beneficial, well and good. If not, the Blue Eagle should be put peacefully out of its misery, stuffed and placed in the museum of 'noble experiments.'"

COOPERATORS MEET

During the week of July 15-20, the American Institute of Cooperation will hold its 11th annual meeting at Cornell University.

In a recent statement, Charles W. Homan, Secretary of the Institute, said that the 1935 session will be somewhat different from its predecessors, in that it will be more of an instructional character, with lectures by practical authorities on cooperative marketing, with special emphasis on the business problems of the agricultural cooperatives. In other words, where previous annual meetings have been in the nature of conventions, the forthcoming session will be primarily devoted to searching discussions of farm problems. It is said that the meeting will be attended by the representatives of more than three million organized farmers. And, during the same week, a number of national farm groups allied with the cooperatives movement will hold their meetings at Cornell.

Cooperative marketing has come a long way since it began. Every year has witnessed definite progress—that handful of farmers who belonged to the first cooperatives has grown to millions. Cooperatives have learned much and done much. Meetings such as the Institute holds, by bringing varying viewpoints and different minds together, take the cooperative movement still another step toward its goal—stability and prosperity on the farm.

When three million individual producers can be represented at a single conclave, it shows that cooperation has passed the pioneer stage, and has become a dominant influence in American life.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—Unable to win sufficient votes in the legislature to carry one of the administration's pet projects, proponents of a unified state highway system have begun considering the possibility of putting the measure on the ballot if a special election is held during the summer or fall.

Opposition of county supervisors, road equipment dealers, farm organizations and other groups proved too strong for legislators who turned down Governor Frank F. Merriam's proposal that all county roads be placed in the state highway system. Proponents are confident the plan would be approved if submitted to the electorate, and they are about ready to advocate this method of overcoming legislative opposition.

Social legislation, which was an outstanding cry during the 1934 campaigns, has all but been forgotten in the rush of legislators to win approval for district and special interest measures.

Almost without exception, unemployment relief bills have been killed, tabled or forgotten. The legislature proposed to raise money for direct relief purposes because the federal government notified California it would be expected to furnish some $44,000,000 during the next biennium, to "balance" $180,000,000 or more which may be advanced by

Washington. But little has been done in any other respect to meet demands for spreading work.

"Production for use" proposals were killed because it was feared they might compete with private industry, or because "the electorate voted against such ideas when it defeated Upton Sinclair last fall."

Unemployment and liberal old age pension proposals and shorter working week bills made little progress because "they might prove magnets for indigents from other states." Adoption of compulsory health insurance was delayed "another two years" because it was so complex a problem it could not be solved during this session.

There remained proposals to liberalize the present old age security act and to extend it to coincide with a possible federal plan.

Otherwise, the legislature apparently planned to do nothing toward alleviating unemployment or caring for the aged and infirm.

Both houses spent long periods, however, discussing such subjects as ownership of the San Francisco harbor, consolidation of counties, permitting municipalities to issue revenue bonds, making it illegal for persons to climb telephone poles, prohibiting walkathons and other endurance contests, taxing "caravan" automobiles, preventing taxi dancers from soliciting drinks in beer parlors, tideland oil drilling, extension of police powers to the highway patrol, the San Francisco bay bridge transportation controversy, the "gin marriage" law, return of public utility property to local tax rolls, mortgage moratoriums, reorganization of the building and loan situation, endorsement of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan and scores of other measures having no connection with important campaign pledges.

Arguments on revenue and taxation matters were varied. Members of the joint steering committee were confident their program would raise $115,000,000 and solve the 1935-37 problems. They were supported by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson. Controller Ray L. Riley and many others said the committee had overestimated expected revenue and the state would find itself in the hole.

Governor Merriam declined to comment, and this was taken to indicate one of two things: either he desired to wait and see which direction the legislature would swing, or he did not approve of the steering group's plans—which ignored some of his proposals—and preferred to say nothing until activity developed on the floor.

Meanwhile, proponents of a gross receipt's tax continued sitting back waiting for the bickering to start before moving in with their "cure-all, trouble-ending" proposal to levy a one per cent tax on all gross receipts as a substitute for individual revenue producing suggestions.

Most members still hope to finish their work by June 2.

"How can the modern woman of 25 find a husband these days?" asks an evening paper. By looking behind the newspaper, as often as not.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

All of Tahoe was sorrow stricken on Wednesday to learn of the death of Frank Pomin, 55, for many years owner and operator of one of Tahoe's favorite resorts on the west shores of the lake. He had been ill and in St. Mary's hospital, Reno, for six weeks, suffering from liver ailment and complications. An effort was made several weeks ago to operate but the doctors found nothing could be done for him and resorted to a blood transfusion instead. He was very popular, highly respected, and always willing to lend a hand in any progressive movement which might better the community.

Born in Forest Hill, Placer Co., he came to Tahoe when a mere child with his parents Captain and Mrs. E. J. Pomin, spending all of his life in this region. He attended the little old school at Glenbrook, and at one time was purser on the Tahoe steamers, which his father, Captain Pomin, piloted for many years in earlier days. His mother, Mrs. Jennie Pomin, after a long illness, passed away within the last year.

Hosts of friends during the last few weeks, have come from near and far to offer him best wishes and a speedy recovery and members of his family constantly present at his bedside toward the last. Besides his widow, Marian Pomin, he leaves a brother Ernest J., three sisters, Mrs. Herbert Watson, Misses Ida and Margaret Pomin, and a cousin J. E. Pomin, all of Tahoe.

The remains were sent to San Francisco for cremation, funeral services held on Saturday at 11 a. m. at the Suhr Funeral Parlor there. Hundreds of friends attended, the rooms filled with beautiful flowers. Among those attending from Tahoe, aside from the relatives, were Mr. and Mrs. S. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Boyarides, Mrs. C. Trickey and Orin Lowell of Auburn.

Funeral services were held in Sacramento on Wednesday for Joe Duffee's father, Edward B. Duffee, 74, of Hagginwood, who passed away the first of the week at his home after an extended period of poor health. He was a retired furniture finisher and worked for thirty years for John Breuner Co. in Sacramento, having lived in that section for over 66 years. He was laid to rest in the Masonic Cemetery. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Tessa A. Duffee of Hagginwood, two sons, Joseph J. Duffee of Tahoe, Raymond Duffee of Hagginwood, two daughters, Mrs. Matt Green, formerly of Tahoe and Mrs. Lattie Mathena of Broderick, also three grandchildren, Raymond E., Eunice, and Nadene Duffee.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Bacchi of Lake Forest and John Maderos of Folsom will take place on Sunday, June 2nd at 11 o'clock following Mass at the Tahoe Catholic church. A large group of relatives and friends of the young couple will witness the event, many coming from out-of-town. Father Daley of Truckee is opening the chapel especially for the occasion and will officiate. Mrs. Jewel Bechdolt and Mrs. Eleanor Swanson will render several appropriate vocal numbers and Mrs. Stella Watson will serve as organist. The bride will be gown in white and attended by a bevy of bridesmaids. A wedding dinner will be served the immediate family at the Bacchi home at noon, a reception and dancing to be held at 4.

Mrs. Ed. Wagner of Lake Forest proved herself a real heroine on Wednesday when fire, believed to have been caused by defective wiring, threatened her home and entire group of cabins in her campgrounds. Her pet bulldog Ponzio, also shared a hero's honors for it he who detected that something was wrong. Rushing to his mistress he jumped upon her, barking and acting strangely. He ran toward the door and then back to her, repeating the performance until, in curiosity, she followed him outside. There she immediately caught sight of the flaming walls and roof of the laundry, which is in a separate building adjoining her home. PROTECT YOUR LIFE
AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

- 1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
- 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"
- 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety and was the first to design an All Rubber Non-Skid Tire. Through the years Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inbuilt qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were on the 5,000-pound car that Ab Jenkins drove 3,000 miles in 23½ hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, is proof of the long mileage and greater economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequalled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.

Legislative Sidelights

During committee discussion of the liquor control bill, one distiller produced samples of well known whiskeys to demonstrate his point relating to tax stamping.

"I move the exhibits be filed with the secretary," said Jerry Seawell.

They were.

One day of hot, summer weather was all the legislature needed to drop formalities. Assemblyman Charlie Hunt, Los Angeles, was the first to shed his coat during a regular session. A few others followed. That night, in the stuffy fourth-floor committee rooms, shirt sleeves were the fashion and the legislators immediately swung into the habit of trying to make themselves as comfortable as possible.

Those coming from San Francisco and other cool spots began thinking of adjournment, but the heat failed to shorten their lengthy debates.

Assemblyman William Hornblower, San Francisco, arose during a late afternoon session to speak in behalf of his bill for chiropractors. Almost immediately, members began tramping their feet until even Bill couldn't make himself heard.

"It must be the heat, gentlemen," remarked Speaker Edward Craig.

Proponents of a bill being discussed by committee were trying to agree on amendments. The discussion became tedious.

"Why don't you take this out in back, agree on amendments and bring it back and then we can kill it?" asked Senator A. L. Pierovich.

The longer the legislative session, the shorter the tempers.

While members of the assembly usually are calling each by their first names as the session approaches final adjournment, the strain of day and night sessions has had its effect.

One of the first "battles" occurred as the result of a disagreement between Assemblymen Charlie Hunt, Los Angeles, and Godfrey A. Andreas, Upland.

Godfrey, incidentally, weighs 300 pounds net. Charlie tips the scales at 115 pounds, soaking wet. The boys met in the cloakroom of the assembly, and only the bulk of Assemblyman Frank G. Martin, Altadena, saved the day.

Another "argument" was between Gene Flint and Ralph Louis Welsh, both of Los Angeles.

Welsh was walking down the aisle when Flint made a remark to which Welsh took particular exception.

"You can't talk that way to me," said Welsh.

The two "colleagues" adjourned to the cloakroom to settle their differences, but Assemblyman Alfred W. Robertson, Santa Barbara, intervened, and no blows were struck.

To Assemblyman Paul M. Richie of San Diego goes the honor of best describing the tactics employed by William Hornblower, San Francisco representative in the lower house who lives up to his name.

The debate was particularly torrid when Richie said:

"The tactics of Mr. Hornblower remind me of the old saying—I'll huff and I'll puff 'till I blow your bill in."

"When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish; it is that they shall be destroyed for ever."

These words from Psalms comprised the Golden Text used Sunday, June 2, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced." Included among the Scriptural selections was: "It shall even be as when an hungry man dreameth, and, behold, he eateth; but he awaketh, and his soul is empty: or as when a thirsty man dreameth, and, behold, he drinketh; but he awaketh, and, behold, he is faint, and his soul hath appetite: so shall the multitude of all the nations be, that fight against mount Zion" (Isaiah 29:8).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included: "The truths of immortal Mind sustain man, and they annihilate the fables of mortal mind, whose flimsy and gaudy pretensions, like silly moths, singe their own wings and fall into dust" (p. 103).

The 1934 production amounted to 4,901,280 pounds or 39.6 per cent over 1933, the highest rate of increase of any of the dairy products listed separately by the department of agriculture.

The other principal product of California dairies to join this upward trend was indicated in the consumption of market milk which amounted to 128,053,949 gallons, "representing an increase of 4,901,280 gallons over 1933 or 4.95 per cent."

Private Game Permit Granted Redding Man

REDDING, Cal., May 30.—(UP)—Nimrods throughout the state probably view W. P. Hall, Hat Creek rancher, with envious eyes—he has a deer season all to himself.

Hall was granted a permit by the fish and game commission to shoot any kind of deer any time he wishes—if they happen to be on his property. The permit dates from May 15 to December 31 this year.

The permit was issued after Hall complained the animals were feeding on his alfalfa fields, causing an estimated loss of five tons of hay annually.

Sales Tax Revenue More Than Last Year

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—Californians did more automobile driving and drank more beer and wine last month than they did during the corresponding month of 1934 according to reports compiled by the state board of equalization.

Gasoline taxes for April totaled $3,663,976, $20,139 more than the amount collected a year ago. Revenue from beer and wine increased $12,005, a gain of 10.2 per cent.

Commenting on the gasoline tax increase, Orin Joan Shontz, Los Angeles member of the board, said it proved a better business barometer than sales tax returns.

"During the first three months of this year," she said, "sales taxes were 13.95 per cent more than for the corresponding period of last year. In these same months, the gasoline tax showed a decrease of 1½ per cent. Despite the improved consumption last month, it is apparent that motorists are not actually using as much gasoline as they did a year ago.

"From these comparisons, it seems that the major part of the gain in the sales tax is due to higher prices rather than increased consumption. Unless the buying power advances along with the rise in prices, it is unsafe to assume that the yield from the sales tax will continue to increase in the future as rapidly as it has during the past few months."

Beverages taxes may return $1,600,000 this year, on the basis of returns thus far, Richard E. Collins, Redding member of the board, pointed out. Revenue from that source has increased each month this year in comparison with the corresponding periods of 1934. Total returns last year amounted to $1,509,000.

"Unless there should be a serious setback, I think that the state may count upon a total revenue of at least $3,250,000 from beer and wine taxes at present rates during the next biennium," Collins said.

Wine sales declined last month, while beer showed an increase with the approach of warmer weather. Ninety-one per cent of the beer consumed was produced by California breweries, and only a small quantity of wine was imported.

State Stock Raisers Face Good Year

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—California stock raisers face the best year on record since 1919, according to a report of the federal-state crop reporting service.

The condition of pasture is rated at 101, the highest on record since 1919 and comparing favorable with the rating of 75 last year and a 10-year May average of 80.

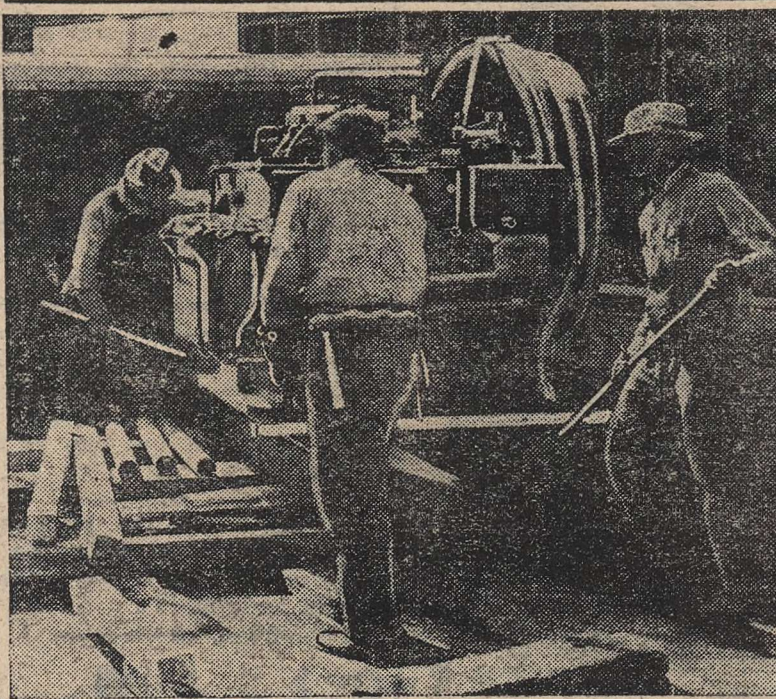

"The situation is unusual this year in that all parts of the state have an excellent growth of native vegetation," the report stated. "In all areas of low and intermediate elevations in the state there is an enormous crop of native feed."

"Still more important is the fact that the ranges have an abundant protective covering and the best re-seeding for many seasons. Native vegetation in the earlier sections now is maturing seasonally."

The condition of cattle was rated at 95 compared with 87 a year ago and a 10-year average of 88.

"Cattle in all of the early and intermediate areas have continued to make excellent gains on the abundant pasturage available," the report explained. "In the higher mountain sections in the northern districts, the delay in the development of spring feed has caused some shrinkage, and has prolonged the feeding season there, but losses generally have been light. Summer prospects are very favorable."

These bars are formed into drag links on the finished Ford automobile.

Sheep and lambs were rated at 87 in the report or five points higher than last year.

"Feed conditions for sheep have been almost ideal," the survey indicated. "Over the entire early lamb districts lambs developed uniformly well under the influence of extremely favorable feed and weather conditions. The average weight of lambs this season has greatly exceeded similar averages for many years. Continued cool weather and well distributed rainfall has permitted a deliberate policy in marketing early lambs and a more uniform distribution of them."

Women May Work Seven Days a Week

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—Women may work seven days a week if they wish to do so, despite an old state law providing a day of rest, according to Attorney General U. S. Webb.

Employers, however, cannot compel them to toil more than 42 hours a week, the attorney general said. The ruling was given in response to a query from Mrs. Mable E. Kinney, chief of the state division of industrial welfare.

Mrs. Kinney sought advice as to the legality of an order she issued permitting establishments in isolated regions where help is scarce to work their waitresses 7-day weeks, with 6-hour days. Webb said the order did not conflict with the existing statute.

California Ships Honey Bees

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—California bees soon may be producing honey for Russians in their home country.

As an aid in rehabilitating the Russian honey industry, negotiations for an exchange of bees have been conducted between soviet government officials and the California department of agriculture. The plan contemplates trading 250,000 California bees for an equal number of Russian bees.

Two shipments, from Butte and Colusa counties, already have been made.

Realtors Must Pass Stiff Examination

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—(UP)—Persons who wish to engage in the realty brokerage business henceforth will have to pass a strict examination before being issued licenses, according to J. Mortimer Clark, state real estate commissioner.

All applicants for broker licenses must take the new tests, he said. Examination papers will be graded strictly. The papers will carry no identifying marks, being designated only by number.

Issuance of licenses will be restricted to those whose qualifications meet requirements of the examination.

New Telephone Directories Distributed

Delivery of 330 copies of the green-covered June 1935 telephone book was made here this week by The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

County-wide distribution of 2,395 copies began Monday and was completed Wednesday, according to Manager A. P. Leitch.

"The new 194-page telephone book contains every recent improvement in arrangement, printing and paper," said Leitch. "Particularly interesting is the list of points reached by overseas telephone service, which now includes all countries of commercial importance except China, Russia and New Zealand."

Telephone subscribers who were not at home to give their old directories to the delivery men, or
